

SPOTLIGHT ON COMPLYING WITH THE JOINT COMMISSION'S ALARM SAFETY GOAL

* extension report overview august 5

ALARM SAFETY INFORMATION FROM ANA

- * How clinical nurse specialists can reduce alarm fatigue
- * Study finds need for better monitoring to prevent false positives FEATURED CONTENT
- * Reduce Nurse Interruptions with Alarm Safety Middleware LEARN MORE ABOUT ALARM SAFETY

MIDDLEWARE FOR TJC COMPLIANCE

- * Watch A Day in the Life of Nurse Lisa
- * The Countdown Is On - Complying with The Joint Commission Alarm Safety Goal
- * Standardizing Hospital Sounds with Alarm Management Middleware
- * The Skeptical Biomedical Manager - Is Alarm Middleware Necessary?
- * Reducing Clinical Noise and Solving the Problem of Interruption Fatigue SMARTBRIEF ARCHIVES
- * Narrow alarm parameters may affect NICU safety, study says
- * Engineering firm looks to make ICUs more like airplane cockpits
- * Report calls for standards, definitions of "never events"
- * Relaxation intervention may reduce stress for ICU nurses COMPANY PROFILE
- * extension company profile

Follow the link below to read quick summaries of these stories and others.

<http://r.smartbrief.com/resp/gWjgBYdHBaCPyjAkCicOgcCicNSQFo>